

VIRTUAL SEMINAR

A CNODES INITIATIVE

The clinical development and deployment of COVID vaccines

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 2021

2:00 PM to 3:00 PM EST

LINK TO SEMINAR

MEETING ID: 859 2055 6588

PASSCODE: Seminar

Dr. Jacques LeLorier
Université de Montréal

Dr. Jacques LeLorier is a professor at the University of Montreal's Departments of Medicine and Pharmacology as well as Chief of the Pharmacoepidemiology and Pharmacoeconomy research unit at the Hôtel-Dieu, Centre hospitalier de l'Université de Montréal. He is also an adjunct professor in the department of epidemiology biostatistics and public health at McGill University. He is a member of the Board's Expert Human Drug Advisory Panel (HDAP), Review Board Patented Medicine Prices, Government of Canada as well as a member of the Ethics Committee of the Clinical Research Institute of Montreal (IRCM). To date, Dr. LeLorier has published more than 150 scientific articles, one book, 5 book chapters and directed 23 masters and PhDs students

Since establishing the organisational structure of CNODES, Dr. LeLorier has been the lead of the Quebec site, a member of the steering committee, and has played a significant role in the conception of many CNODES projects as an investigator and team member.